Key Points

- Fans can bid to watch the Summer House finale and reunion in the actual Hamptons house.
- The house offers luxury amenities and is available for rent or purchase this summer.
- Bidding starts at $3,000; stay includes Loverboy drinks but not food or cast cutouts.

If you've ever dreamed of truly "sending it" like the cast of Summer House, now's your chance. Fans can officially bid to watch the finale and reunion episodes inside the actual Hamptons house, where all the partying, hookups, fights, and late-night chaos went down — with an overnight stay included. Bidding starts at $3,000, four-night watch parties are on the table: the finale, Tuesday, May 19; Summer House Season 10 reunion part one, Tuesday, May 26; part two of the reunion on Tuesday, June 2; and part three of the reunion on June 9.

Offered by travel company StayMarquis, the iconic house comes stocked with Kyle Cooke's Loverboy hard teas, private use of the home for your watch party night, in-home theater, and viewing setup. Food and life-sized cardboard cutouts of the cast are not included.

Summer House, which has been renewed for Season 11, may be moving homes. StayMarquis is currently offering the home for rent this summer. “Set on 4 private acres, this pristine estate features a 1,700 sf pool pavilion with spa, an expansive wraparound stone patio, and seamless indoor-outdoor living — just minutes from the best beaches, shops, and dining,” according to an early April Instagram post. “8 bedrooms | 8.5 bathrooms, 7,000 sf of interiors with ensuite bedrooms, a designer kitchen, a primary suite with deck access, a media room with projector, and multiple fireplaces throughout.”

The home was also listed for sale in April, offered through Alfredo Barreto and Vincent Horcasitas of Saunders & Associates. Offered for $5.65 million, the home also boasts a gym, pool house, and finished lower level (where cast members often stayed). No mention of whether any of the furnishings, including the now-iconic driftwood primary bedroom headboard, is included. But buyers can rest assured that the front door, which famously stuck, was fixed before season 10.

Summer House is on Tuesdays at 8 p.m. on Bravo.
